For his subject Mr. Hubbard has chosen "Getting Together," which is perhaps the most popular of the lectures he delivers. Like Secretary Bryan's "Prince of Peace" and "Signs of the Times," Mr. Hubbard's "Getting Together" has been delivered by him so often and trimmed and shaped so thoroughly that it has come to be regarded as one of the masternteers of garded as one of the masterpieces of the lecture platform. In his own words, it is a good-naturad plea for co-operation in civic and business enterprises. The Advertisers' Club will endeavor to interest the members of the various commercial organizations in the lec-ture and make the night a great get-together affair for Richmond.

In response to the invitation to speak here, Mr. Hubbard addressed the following letter to Mr. Freeman:

GOVERNOR NAMES

Proclamation Issued Calling on People to Honor Birthday of Audubon.

Governor Stuart yesterday desigsued from the Capitol. The Governor suggests that the public schools of the State signalize the day by explaining to the scholars the bird laws and the reasons why song birds should not be killed, and why bird nests should not be molested.

The text of the proclamation fol-lows:

A Proclamation.

"With our rapidly advancing civilization, and with the growing appreciation of the importance of conserving nature's gifts, comes each year greater realization of the necessity for the protection of high. The funer

Ing nature's gifts, comes each year greater realization of the necessity for the protection of birds. The farmer recognizes them more and more as his friends, and all the people value them for the beauty and the music 'hey bring to the world.

"That these things be doubly impressed, especially upon the young, I hereby proclaim and designate Monday, May 4, 1914, the birthday of John James Audubon, America's great raturalist and bird lover, as "Bird Day" for the Commonwealth of Virginia. I especially urge that in the public schools of Virginia the teachers read this proclamation and add their own words to its intent. I suggest that they call attention to the statutes on the protection of birds, the law against the killing of robins at any time, the laws protecting edible birds during the mating season, the laws for the punishment of wanton slaying of bird life and of despoliation of nests, so that the children, the future citizens, may realize the resemble them. Cloud, aged forty-nine, formerly city ticket agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, but more recently a member of the real estate firm of Cloud, & Anderson, committed suicide at 9 o'clock this morning at his home on Locust Avenue by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. The deed was committed in a rear room while the members of the family were in the front part of the house.

Mr. Cloud was a son of the late I. N. Cloud, of this city. He married Miss Mollie Goodice, of Afton. She survives, with four children. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Bettie Cloud; one brother, Herbert Cloud, of this city, and a sister, Mrs. E. M. Buck, of Lakeland, Fla.

By the Governor:

B. O. JAMES,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Designates Judge.

Governor Stuart vesterday designated Judge T. J. Barham, of Newport News, to hold court next week in Westmoreland County, to fill the vacancy caused by the death this week of Judge T. R. B. Wright, of the Tweifth Judicial Circuit. This designation is taken to mean that the Governor will not name the new judge for this circuit until some time later than this week.

Ira C. Smith, storekeeper at the Richmond Distilling Company, is scheduled to appear before Commissioner Molvin Flegenheimer this morning to answer to charges of irregularity in connection with his duties at the plant, which was seized two weeks ago by internal revenue agents on a charge of attempting to defraud the government. John A. Deltrich and two employes were ordered held for the next grand jury in the United States District Court, while Smith's hearing was a complete cure. My face had a most unsightly appearance. I tried different kinds of soaps, creams and massages, and also a strict diet, but I could get no relief. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap were gone I can truthfully say that it was a complete cure. My face had assumed as complete cure. My face had assumed its former color and looks, due to Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. They are, I think, the best for any skin trouble."
